Regal amount is raised by mortgage company

A TOWN centre business is celebrating today after raising nearly £1,500 for charity.

Crown Mortgage Management donated £1,457.28 to mental health charity Mind after a series of dress down Fridays.

Staff were allowed to wear casual clothes and jeans if they donated £2 a month.

Crown also held a company poker night in its offices and after-dinner games at its Christmas party last year.

The firm's bosses also donated £300 instead of sending corporate Christmas cards to their clients.

Mind, which seeks to help the one-in-four people who will suffer a mental health problem at some point in their lives, was Crown's chosen charity for 2007.

Crown administration assistant Emma Spall said: "We have had fun raising these funds and trust that those people whose lives have been affected by illness will benefit from the money we have raised."
